THE RACE WAR IS CONTINUING

More Victims Were Added to List Yesterday.

REIGN OF TERROR EXISTS

Popular Policeman Is Killed and His Fellow Officers Are Determined to Avenge His Death—All Dealers Sell Out Entire Stock of Arms.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 25.—Great uneasiness prevails in this city as a result of the race war of last Saturday night, which was followed last night by the killing of Policeman James Heard and the wounding of three other officers. Several negroes were also severely wounded, and it is believed that five or six of them were killed and their bodies removed. Hundreds of negroes have left the city, and the situation is still critical, although quiet today.

The citizens are determined to protect the white women at all hazards, but everything is being done by the officers to prevent any further slaughter of innocent negroes. The numerous assaults on white women have caused much indignation the in city, and the riots are due to this fact.

Ignorant whites have, however, doubtless been incited by the late campaign, in which the negro was made an issue by Hoke Smith and his followers. This exciting campaign caused much racial prejudice, and the unfortunate killing of inoffensive negroes is greatly deplored.

THE TABLES OF STONE.

A Curious Calculation From the Talmud and the Bible.

Did you ever figure on the probable size and immense strength of Moses, basing your calculations on the dimensions of the tables of stone, as given by the Talmudic writers? In the Talmud (folio 38, column 8) it is said that the tables of stone upon which the commandments were written were six ells long, six ells broad and three ells thick. In the Bible, Exodus xxxii, 15, we are told that "Moses went down from the mount, and the two tables of the testimony were in his hand."

"Hand," mind you, not hands, though it must be admitted that it would have taken a strong pair of hands to perform the task of carrying them, even on the level. Now, we will put the Talmudic and the Biblical accounts together and apply the mathematical rule. The Hebrew ell or cubit was, at its least estimate, a measure of eighteen inches, which would have made each of the tables a stone block nine feet long, nine feet wide and four and one-half feet thick. If common stone weighed as much to the square foot then as it does now the tables would tip the beam at about twenty-eight tons! Was Moses one of the giants of those days or has some one made a mistake in calculations or in the statement of supposed facts?—Exchange.

SARDINES.

The Way They Are Cooked and Prepared For Market.

Sardines are caught in nets, and after being well washed the heads are cut off and the fish are sprinkled lightly with salt. After lying for a few hours they are placed on grids in rows almost perpendicular. The frames are then placed in pans containing boiling olive oil. The oil is changed as soon as it becomes too black and dirty for continuing the cooking process.

As soon as the fish are considered sufficiently cooked, they are withdrawn from the pans of oil and the grids are placed on the tables covered with zinc, the surface of the table inclining toward a groove in the center. The oil is thus carried to a vessel prepared to receive it. Round the table stand the women whose business it is to pack the fish closely and uniformly in boxes.

The boxes being full, the fish are covered with fresh oil and the lids are then soldered down. Thus hermetically sealed they are placed in iron baskets and immersed in boiling water. The smaller boxes are thus boiled for half an hour and the larger ones somewhat longer, in proportion to size of box. The fish are then ready for the market.—Grocer's Weekly.

FAMOUS BALLET DANCERS.

Stories of La Taglioni, Fanny Elssler and Lola Montez.

It has been asserted that the grand ballet died when the famous Taglioni retired in 1845. At any rate, the ballet today is chiefly a spectacle of dress and colored limelight. Except for a very few performers, dancing as a high art has vanished.

There is no one now to set beside La Taglioni, who was the queen of the stage. Balzac introduced her into his novels. Even Thackeray condescended to notice her and declared enthusiastically in "The Newcomes" that the "young men of the day will never see anything so graceful as Taglioni in 'La Sylphide.'" At that time she was the rage. Stagecoaches and greatcoats were named after her.

La Taglioni owed her charm to a wonderful lightness and grace. Her style was rather ideal than realistic and voluptuous, as was then the vogue. The hideous ballet skirt of today she never wore, but a skirt that reached nearly to her ankles. It was one of the principles of her father, who taught her all she learned of the art, that the dancer should be modest in dress, in movement and in expression.

Another famous master, who called himself "Le Dieu de la Danse," always told his pupils to use all the coquetry they could.

Vestris, who founded the famous Vestris family, was an eighteenth century celebrity and quite remarkably conceited even for a dancer. "There are but three great men alive," he used to say, "myself, the Prussian Frederick and Voltaire." (It is interesting to compare Southey's remark that a male dancer deserves to be hamstrung.) That profession of which he was so proud is indeed an arduous one. Vestris used to practice for about six hours a day. A dancer must be extremely strong and supple.

A curious story is told about Fanny Elssler, a German dancer with coal black hair, which illustrates the extreme muscular strength a dancer requires. She was crossing to America when she entered her cabin one day and discovered a thief abstracting the jewel case which she kept hidden under her pillow. Before he could attack her she planted her foot full in his chest and killed him on the spot.

It is curious that no Englishwoman has ever achieved supreme success as a dancer. It is possible, as foreigners assert, that they lack the dramatic gift. It is certain that a lifelong devotion and arduous apprenticeship are essential to any expression through the medium of dancing. The "rats," the beginners at the Paris Opera, are articled for five years, and then, unless they have danced from their cradle they cannot hope to attain the first rank.

Another quality essential to the great dancer is infinite patience. The only English dancer who ever gave promise of attaining the front rank failed in this respect. Lola Montez was the somewhat foreign name she had taken. She lost her temper one day with the manager at rehearsal and expressed her feelings so dramatically as to break an umbrella over his head. Managers will endure much for art's sake, but this was too much.

Carlotta Grisi is another famous name of the old opera. It was she who first introduced the polka into England—a Bohemian dance that came to stay. It was for her, too, that Heine, Gautier and Adolphe Adam collaborated in writing "Giselle."

There were a score more famous names that were familiar words in those days. Of the twelve leading dancers engaged at the King's theater in 1824 for a two months' season five were a sufficient attraction to receive more than £1,000 each.—London Mail.

Conclusive.

Insurance Solicitor—Well, doctor, have you examined this new claimant? Doctor—No. I haven't thought it necessary. You see, I've been treating him for the last seven years. Insurance Solicitor—That's enough. If he has survived that he must be a person of wondrous vitality.

This Was In 1906.

Says the London Times of May, 1906: "A decently dressed woman was last night brought out into Smithfield for sale, but the brutal conduct of the bidders induced the man who was, or pretended to be, her husband, to refuse to sell her, on which a scene of riot and confusion highly disgraceful to our police took place."

THE SURGEON'S TOOLS

AS FEW AS POSSIBLE USED BY THE MODERN PRACTITIONER.

To Remove an Appendix, For Instance, He Can Carry Everything Necessary In One of His Pockets. Hand Forged Instruments the Best.

"A surgeon used to carry a bag of instruments weighing often as much as twenty five pounds when he was called to operate," said a member of the staff of the New York Postgraduate Medical School and Hospital the other day. "Today an average operation, such as the removal of an appendix, calls for no more instruments than can be carried in the pockets.

"I have just come," continued the doctor, "from removing an appendix, and here in this small package are all the instruments I used—a scissors, two artery clamps, two forceps and a needle. Many operations, of course gastro enteric, gynecological and those that have to do with bones require more instruments, but modern science demands the use of as few as possible in order that time may be saved. Skill and haste are prime factors in an operation. In the old days, before anaesthesia was known, this was to shorten the patient's agony as much as possible. After ether was discovered surgeons for awhile operated more leisurely, but soon finding out that the shock to the patient remaining under ether so long was always dangerous and often fatal, they again recognized the importance of swiftness. Diminishing the number of instruments was one of the methods for saving time. In the operating room in the old days there was always, no matter what the operation, a good sized table laid out with ten or fifteen score of instruments, fifty artery clamps, scissors, forceps and lancets by the dozen. It used to take over an hour to remove an appendix; today the average is about twelve minutes.

"The variety of instruments increases every year as surgeons meet with new needs or solve old problems. In our school here, as in others, many instruments have been devised. Especially to those having to do with the eye, ear, nose and throat have we made valuable additions as well as in the field of orthopedic appliances. The Hippocratic oath precludes the patenting of any such inventions; consequently all instruments are free to be made by all and every surgical manufactory."

The making of surgical instruments in the United States is nearly contemporaneous with the beginning of the republic, and one or two of the prominent firms today date from long before the civil war. In no country are finer instruments made than in the United States. Though the number of men employed is small, every man is a skilled laborer and an artist, with an adroitness often as fine as that of a journeyman jeweler, capable of making even the most delicate of the great variety of instruments, amounting to about 10,000, which a surgical house must keep in stock or be ready to produce upon order.

Cast and drop forged instruments have no lasting value, and once the edge is worn off they can never be satisfactorily resharpened. The process which they undergo demands that they be brought three times to a white heat. The first time the steel becomes tempered; the second and third time it becomes decarbonized and loses its temper, the result being an instrument with a shell of hard steel, capable of taking a fair edge, but beneath which the metal is soft and unfit to stand honing.

"All good instruments are hand forged. Thus prices are doubled and trebled over the prices of cast instruments because of the skilled labor and time necessary to their construction. The workman in a careful factory must make a study of his work and learn the physical qualities of the steel or metal he works with, its strength and cutting and tension qualities. General operating instruments are made of steel, silver, platinum, gold and aluminium. German steel, owing to its tenacity, is used for forceps and blunt instruments, English cast steel for edged tools, as it receives a high temper, a fine polish and retains its edge. Silver when pure is very flexible and is useful for catheters, which require frequent change of curve. When mixed with other metals, as coin silver, it makes firm catheters, caustic holders and cannulated work. Seamless silver instruments are least liable to corrode. Platinum resists the action of acids and ordinary heat and is useful for caustic holders, actual cauteries and the electrodes of the galvano cautery. Gold, owing to its ductility, is adapted for fine tubes, such as eye syringes and so forth, while aluminium is by its extreme lightness suitable for probes, styles and tracheotomy tubes.

"Handles are made of ebony, ivory, pearl or hard rubber. Ebony and rubber are used for large instruments, though these at times have handles of steel. Ivory makes a durable and beautiful handle, though it and ebony are not entirely aseptic because it is impossible to boil them for the purpose of sterilization without their cracking. Ivory and pearl are used for scalpels and for small instruments like those used in operating on the eye. On the whole the best material for handles is hard rubber, since it may be vulcanized on the instrument, thus making it practically one piece, with no possible seam for the lodging of germs and hence perfectly safe.

"Next to the materials the mode of making determines the instrument's quality. Steel overheated in the forge is brittle or rotten. In shaping with the file the form may be destroyed. In hardening and tempering the steel may be spoiled. In every stage the value of the instrument depends upon the skill applied."—New York Post.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

A Case In Which the Jury's Foreman Saved the Accused.

Very eminent legal authorities agree that as to the facts of a case the jury is more likely to be right than the judge. An instance comes to our mind, one of the most extraordinary in the history of our legal system, the account of which we owe to the man who tried and presided over the trial, Lord Chief Justice Dyer. This was a "clear case" of murder. The victim had been found stabbed to death in a field wood, by his side the pitchfork with which the deed had been done. The man who owned the fork was arrested, and the blood stained suit he had worn was found hidden in a mattress.

Short of testimony from any one who had seen the crime actually committed, there was not a link missing from the chain of evidence against the prisoner. It was in vain that he pleaded not guilty, everything was so conclusively clear against him. A verdict of guilty was expected immediately from the jury, but the foreman asked that as "the life" of a fellow creature was at stake the jury might be allowed to retire. The judge did not understand why they should wish to do so in so simple a case; still, the jury had its wish. It did not return. The court adjourned for luncheon; the jury did not come back in the afternoon, and in spite of several anxious inquiries from the bench it had not made up its mind when the court rose for the day—there was one man holding out. The jury was locked up for the night, and in the morning brought in a verdict of not guilty! This was a poser, and the judge dismissed the jury, saying, "The blood of the deceased lies at your door."

Private inquiry by the judge elicited the fact that the foreman, a man of unblemished reputation and of considerable estate, had been the cause of the verdict, which the rest had been starved into accepting. The judge sent for this gentleman, and in his private room begged him to explain the mystery of his obduracy and the amazing finding of his fellows, first pledging himself to preserve inviolate any confidence which the other might repose in him. Then the foreman told him how he himself had met the victim for whose murder the prisoner had been tried, how this man had sought to take advantage of his official position and exact unjust tithes, how they quarreled and fought, how the man had attempted to kill him with a fork, and how he (the foreman of the jury) had killed his antagonist with his own pitchfork, then fled. The prisoner coming along, had found the man dying, and in endeavoring to succor him had got blood upon his clothes, and in his confusion had taken the dead man's fork and left his own in his place. This was why the foreman had held out and why the prisoner escaped.—London Standard.

Fixing Her Face.

She started, recoiled and then bent anxiously nearer her mirror.

"A wrinkle, as I'm alive!" she exclaimed.

She was of a buoyant temper, however.

"I suppose I'll have to put a good face on it," she said, reaching forthwith for the necessary materials.—Puck.

REBELS GET WHAT THEY DESIRE

In the Negotiations With Taft and Bacon.

THE TREATY WITH LEADERS

The Insurgents Agree Entirely to the Armistice as Proposed by Secretary Taft—Suspension for the Present of All Hostilities.

Havana, Sept. 25.—Victory for the Liberals or revolutionary party seems certain at the conclusion of a long conference last night between a committee of the insurgents of eight members and the American peace commissioners.

The insurgent committee announced that there was practically no difference remaining between them and Secretaries Taft and Bacon, and that they would receive a draft of the peace plans today. These probably would be agreed to at a meeting to be held in the Presidio, where the prisoner members of the committee are confined.

THE CONGREGATIONALISTS

They started the first foreign missionary society in the country.

They started the first home missionary society in the country.

They started the most effective city missionary society in the country.

They started the greatest Christian young people's movement of this country or any other country.

They started the first college in the country.

They started the first theological seminary in the country.

They started the first religious newspaper in the country.

They published the first hymn book in the country.

They started the town meeting, the initiative and referendum.

They started the first temperance society in the country.

They have given to America the three greatest evangelists it has ever had.—Chicago Advance.

An Avaricious Woman.

A woman who carried love of money to an incredible extreme was Lady Margaret Jardine, sister of the first Duke of Queensbury. Although her husband was a rich man, Lady Margaret would actually carry foot passengers across the little river Annan for a halfpenny, and whenever there was a fair or market day she would sit on the banks of the stream all day long waiting for customers. She usually wore rags to save her clothes, but on the rare occasions when she visited anywhere she packed up a few decent garments which she slipped on before entering the house, exchanging them for her dirty ones when leaving.—London Queen.

The Point of View.

Zangwill, the noted writer, had an experience which convinced him that in deciding what constitutes real greatness a good deal depends upon the point of view. At a political meeting he fell into conversation with a man who knew all the speakers and pointed them out as they sat on the platform. "There," he said, "sits Senator Lodge." "What!" exclaimed Mr. Zangwill. "Do you mean Henry Cabot Lodge, the literary man—the great historian?" "No, sir-ee!" replied the other with distinct contempt. "That's Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator from the great state of Massachusetts."

Unnecessary.

"Now, Tommy," said the boy's mother, giving him final instructions, "you must remember how to behave at the party. If you're asked to have something and you want it you must say 'Yes, thank you,' and if you don't want it you must say"—

"You needn't bother about that part of it, ma," interrupted Tommy.

The Maneuvering Mamma.

"The maneuvering mamma" is practically extinct. The modern daughter has an almost free hand in managing her love transactions. The mere love marriage, which was so disturbing a thought to the mother of even twenty years ago, is seldom heard of in May fair if these altered circumstances, says the London Graphic.

WITH GREAT POMP UNIVERSITY TO OPEN

Today Will Be Red-Letter Day in the History of Gainesville.

BEGINNING OF A NEW ERA

The Magnificent Buildings of the New University of Florida Will Swing Open Their Doors and Bid Welcome to the Ambitious Youths of Florida.

This will be one of the greatest days in the history of not only Gainesville, but the State. In fact, it will be a red-letter day, so to speak, for it will begin a new educational era which has never been known in Florida before It will begin an era which will give Gainesville and the State a reputation throughout the entire United States which cannot but attract people from everywhere—and the whole thing has been brought about by the enactment of the famous Buckman educational law, which has consolidated the various State educational institutions into two great colleges, the University of Florida and the Women's College.

With banners flying and everybody happy and jubilant, the great University of Florida, the combined forces of several schools which have been supported by State aid, will open in the elegant new buildings today, and it will be an opening which will never be forgotten by those who will witness the ceremonies. These elegant and modern quarters, which are said to be among the finest in the South, are now ready, and many of the students, from every quarter of the State, are already quartered there.

There will be really no program today other than the formal exercises attending the establishing of the college and the enrollment of students, more than fifty of whom are already here. Several more will arrive today and tomorrow, and tomorrow afternoon and evening the exercises attending the opening will be held. The program for this opening has already been published. The exercises will begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and will be continued in the evening, the ladies giving a reception in honor of the students, concluding with a dance.

THE NEW UNIVERSITY.

BY CHAS. M. FISHER.

When Florida's schools became too great
To put up with the buildings they had,
For larger ones they asked the State—
The old ones were certainly bad.

This school wanted money, and that one, too,
For widening their limits they 'spired,
Till the members of the House became quite blue—
"The signing of bills make us tired."

Affairs rocked along till Nineteen-Five,
When another great howl was made,
"Too much! Too much! Great Scott alive!
These bills can never be paid.

"A bankrupt State in a few short years
Can't help being Florida's fate,
Then we'll be the objects of countless sneers—
Let us begin to think e'er it be too late.

"A better plan must needs be made
By which this evil we'll shun;
On the present system we'll make such a raid
As before ne'er was seen 'neath the sun."

Then arose that wise, deep-thinking man,
Who before had always been still,
"Who can solve this problem! I can—
Here—I present you my Buckman Bill."

The Buckman Bill that caused such a stew
Among all the citizens of the State,
Is now considered by more than a few
The wisest bill that's passed of late.

The bill provides for two State schools,
While before we had six instead;
Altho' the Honorables have all been called fools,
They'll go down with the reverend dead.

The two famous Boards in joint session unfurls
The decision, amid sorrows and joys;
"To Tallahassee we give the College for the girls,
To Gainesville, the University for the boys."

We sorrow with those who sustained a loss,
We rejoice with those who gained;
Let the former meekly bear their cross,
The latter from excessve pride refrained.

Since the act is passed the change is made,
And prospects point to a future bright,
Let all feeling and strife be laid,
Let all fair Florida put on her might.

Among her lads and lasses (equally shared),
As fine talent as there is in any State;
In our College and University they'll be prepared
To fight nobly life's battles, however great.

When our U. of F. gets settled in its new home,
(A beautiful and clean little town)
It will grow and flourish, be burdened by none—
'Twill shine a jewel in Florida's crown.

How the Great Penguin Hatches.

It may interest you to know that the great penguin of the southern circle standing with its head as high as a man's waist, hatches its eggs in a peculiar manner. These are not laid upon the ground and brooded on after the manner of most birds' eggs. The female lays two large eggs. The first she hands over to the male bird, the other she keeps. The egg is held on the upper surface of the large flat feet, and is pushed up under the waistcoat of thick feathers. It is there held close to the body, whose warmth gradually vitalizes the young bird. So tenacious are the parent birds of this grip that if you knock one of them over it will fall on its back with its feet stuck stiffly out, still clutching the egg to its body. —Saturday Review.

Tommy and His Pets.

The British soldier is inordinately fond of his animal pets and has also the reputation of coveting those of his neighbors, particularly dogs and mongooses. Parrots he simply adores, and it is calculated that their strength in the service is in the proportion of at least six birds a Tommy. He is supposed to teach them to be personal in their language, but as a matter of fact Tommy is for some unaccountable reason a very emotional man, and his birds as often as not have to submit to a sound musical education, hymns being as often taught them as the comic songs of the day.—Allahabad Pioneer.

The Same Old Dish.

Two thousand years ago the chafing dish was used by the Greeks and Romans. It was so popular that it was used for a table ornament, just as floral pieces are used now. Pliny relates that the tragic actor, Æsopus, had a dish worth 1,000 sesterces. No doubt then, as at the present time, the actor enjoyed his hot midnight meal filled with grateful appreciation of the chafing dish.

A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

Mr. Boulware Gave Party in Honor of Miss Roundtree's Birthday.

Orange Heights, Sept. 24.—A very pleasant and social little affair took place in this vicinity Saturday, the 22nd. It might be called a picnic—it could be called a social or a party—but be that as it may, it is worthy of mention. It was given at the Boulware homestead by Wm. Boulware in honor of Miss Theo Roundtree, who celebrated her fifteenth birthday.

About 10 a. m. the neighbors began to arrive with well filled baskets and were met by Miss Theo, the guest of honor, who was assisted by her young friend, Miss Mathews of Campville.

The old farm house was thrown open and our bachelor host, with his genial smile, extended to each a cordial welcome. Social games and conversation were indulged in until the dinner-hour was announced, and the ladies spread the snowy linen clothes on the porch, shaded by the beautiful chinaberry trees and overlooking the Boulware lake, making a beautiful scene as they placed the good things to eat all-around and the jolly crowd gathered about to partake, and each head was bowed as Mrs. Ward asked the Lord's blessing and tendered thanks to Him for His watchful care.

It is useless to say that each one present did their duty to this bountiful repast so carefully prepared and served—altogether, would have made a beautiful picture, but we had no kodak, so we only have a picture in our mind.

At 3 p. m. we were invited to follow the crowd to the home of Miss Roundtree, where the meeting was continued and ice cream and other refreshments were served, after which each guest, expressing their thanks to the young hostess and wishing her many happy returns, hied themselves to their respective homes.

She Found Relief.

If you are troubled with liver complaint and have not received help read this. Mrs. Mary E. Hammond, Moody, Texas: "I was in poor health—with liver trouble—for over a year. Doctors did me no good and I tried Herbine, and three bottles cured me. I can't say too much for Herbine, as it is a wonderful liver medicine. I always have it in the house. Publish where you wish." ILLIAM THOMAS RELEASED BY JURY leged Slayer of Maxie Scofield Exonerated by a Jury.

HE TRIAL WAS AT BELL

ustice Barron Presided, and After the Taking of Testimony and Argument of Council Verdict of Acquittal Resulted—Thomas Re-arrested.

Attorneys B. A. Thrasher and J. M. Rivera returned Tuesday from Bell, where they were called in the case of the State vs. Wm. Thomas, charged with the murder of Maxie Scofield.

From what information could be gathered it appears that Thomas and Scofield had a misunderstanding about some crosstie timber, it being alleged that a quarrel took place at Thomas' gate, when Scofield told Thomas he was prepared for him and he had better "fix" himself.

It is said that Thomas then went into his house and obtained his gun. During Thomas' absence Scofield's attention was attracted to someone passing, and as Thomas reached the door of his house Scofield turned his face towards Thomas, when the latter fired with fatal effect.

Thomas surrendered, and was arraigned before Justice Barron at Bell, being tried before a jury, when he was acquitted.

Thomas was re-arrested, however, upon a charge of murder, and the warrant was made returnable to County Judge Mason.

IN THE MAYOR'S COURT.

There Was a Lively Session of Municipal Court—Many Offenders.

In the mayor's court there were several cases, and in every instance, with one exception where the defendant was let off with the costs, were fined.

Following was the docket:

Jesse Reddick and his wife, Mollie Reddick, were arraigned upon a charge of fighting. Jesse was compelled to cough up a fine of $5 and costs, while his wife, Mollie, was only required to pay the costs in the case.

Samuel Peach proved to be all his name implies—a "peach" sure enough, for it is said he filled up on peach cider, got the "funny feeling," and went to sleep on the streets, when he was arrested by Night Officer Kite. He was let down with all the leniency possible, as the officer stated he was not boisterous or disorderly, so he contributed to the city treasury one dollar and costs.

John Hughes, Jerry Carter and Isaac Thompson were arraigned for using profane and abusive language. They were fined $2 50 and costs each.

Presley Jackson, who was arrested Monday night upon a charge of exercising his vocabulary in epithets which it would not do for a lady to hear, gave a cash bond of $8 for his appearand the bond was forfeited.

JESSE GOSS IN IOWA.

He Writes Interestingly of That State and Its Farming Industry.

The Sun is in receipt of a letter from Jesse H. Goss, formerly in the insurance business in Chicago, but now traveling throughout the West in the interest of the Standard Oil Company.

This letter is mailed at Ogden, Iowa, and inasmuch as Mr. Goss is a Gainesville boy who has many friends throughout this section, a reproduction of part of its contents will prove of interest. He says in part:

"I find that this State is very thickly settled, there being very little wild or uncultivated land—just one farm after another all over the State, enormous corn crops, fat stock, etc. The land is very fertile and values are very high, some farms selling as high as $125 per acre. If the people in this country knew what they could accomplish in the South with the money their farms are worth they would all sell out and go down there and buy land. They do not earn five per cent on the value of their land.

"I am still keeping house in Chicago and my wife and sister, Betty, are there. My plans are somewhat unsettled. I may move to Des Moines to live."

THE UNION ACADEMY.

Opening of Colored Public School Will Occur On Monday, Oct. 1.

The opening of Union Academy, the public school for colored people, is announced for Monday, Oct. 1.

The Union Academy has always enjoyed the reputation of being one of the best free schools for colored people in the State. The enrollment is large, the faculty always competent, and a great deal of effective work has been accomplished in this institution.

The school this year will be in charge of Prof. T. E. DeBose as principal, who will have an efficient corps of nine assistants. The principal feels greatly encouraged over the prospects, which he believes are the best the school has ever enjoyed.

The immense building, which is located on North Garden street, corner Columbia, has been thoroughly repaired, the yards and play-grounds have been cleared, and everything is in readiness for the opening.

Mr. Davis to Jacksonville.

R. C. Davis, the hustling State agent of the Fay-Sholes typewriter, made by the Arithmograph Company of Chicago, left yesterday for Jacksonville, where he went to meet G. F. Watt, vice-president and general manager of the firm, who is on an official visit through the South.

Mr. Watt has demonstrated the fact that he is also a hustler, as he believes in systematic advertising, and recently placed a $200 contract, through Mr. Davis, for advertising the Fay-Sholes in The Sun. As a result of this advertising, together with Mr. Davis' efforts, he has placed in Gainesville in the neighborhood of fifty Fay-Sholes within the past two years, which will equal in number all other machines combined.

Mr. Davis is not only a hustler, but a "right clever" kind of a fellow as well, and has made many friends throughout the State.

Well Worth Trying.

W. H. Brown, the popular pension attorney of Pittsfield, Vt., says: "Next to a pension, the best thing to get is Dr. King's New Life Pills." He writes: "They keep my family in splendid health." Quick cure for headache, constipation and biliousness. 25c. guaranteed at all drug stores.

GOV. BROWARD MADE GREAT DRAINAGE TALK

He Believes Drainage of Everglades to Be the Right Thing.

GAVE MANY FEASIBLE REASONS

Why This Should be Done, Demonstrating the Great Value of Millions of Acres of Fertile Lands to Floridians.

Owing to the delay of the Seaboard Air Line train which bore Governor Broward, announced to speak on the drainage question at the court house Tuesday night, the distinguished gentleman never appeared until about 9 o'clock, an hour later that the hour at which he stated he would begin his talk, with the result that it was quite late before he concluded.

It was a good-natured, patient crowd, however, who came early, expecting the speaking to begin at 8 o'clock. When it was explained that the delay was in no wise the fault of the Governor, and the train was expected to arrive about 8:45, those present passed the time in friendly conversation.

The appearance of Governor Broward in the court room, as he entered the massive doors which were swung open, was the signal for a hearty demonstration, and it was a couple of minutes or more before quiet was restored.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. J. F. McKinstry, Jr., chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee, who stated its purpose, after which, with some complimentary remarks, he presented the Governor.

Governor Broward covered the drainage question thoroughly, and endeavored to demonstrate to the people why drainage of the Everglades was the proper scheme. His argument was evidently convincing, if one is to determine from the nature of the remarks made at the conclusion of the talk.

The was a large and representative crowd, including many ladies, who apparently were deeply interested in the Governor's remarks.

Governor Broward expects to speak in High Springs today and Fort White tonight. He will return to Gainesville in time to fill his appointment at the opening exercises of the University of Florida, which will be held Thursday afternoon and evening.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent baldness by feeding the germs with tonics. It with Cantharides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co. Detroit, Mich.

The free lunch heretofore served in the Jacksonville saloons is a thing of the past, all the proprietors having abandoned the service last Saturday.

The grape fruit crop of Florida is something immense. The crop this year is estimated at one and a half million boxes, the average price of which will be $5 per box, or $7,500,000.

Boss Cox of Cincinnati does not seem to care much for father-in-law, if the report is true that he refused to allow son-in-law Longworth to be a delegate to the Ohio Republican State convention.

The Milton Index says Florida stenographers and typewriters are such charming girls that it is hard to keep one. No town in the State can show a more charming set of these worthy young ladies than Gainesville. They are not only industrious when engaged at their work, but fascinating and entertaining in social circles.

The news comes from Virginia, says The Live Oak Democrat, that war is to be made on Senator Daniel of that State because he refuses to swallow Mr. Bryan's doctrine of government ownership, and the Senator will have vigorous opposition for re-election because of it. Mr. Daniel is in lots of good Democratic company in his objections to Mr. Bryan's "ultimate" remedy, and it is thoroughly silly to seriously talk about retiring him from the Senate for any such reason. It is evidently a cunning pretext on the part of some politician who wants to be Senator from Virginia himself, and has been heretofore short of a reason for announcing his candidacy. A majority of the political leaders of the South think just as Mr. Daniel does on the government ownership question and it would be as just and logical to send them all back to private life as to defeat the Virginia Senator.

THE ATLANTA RIOT.

Following months of terror, over a score of assaults upon defenseless women and a season of diabolical crimes, Atlanta arrived at the crucial stage of her crisis last Saturday night, when, with an anger that was just, many of her citizens joined in a war against the negro population, killing many and wounding more.

This Atlanta misfortune will occupy the center of the newspaper stage for the coming several weeks. There will be expressions of regret on the part of the press of the South, mingled with echoes of condemnation which will come this way from the newspapers of the North, where experiences with the negro population have not softened the hatred communities in that part of the United States have held for the South.

The Sun regrets the occurrence, as every fair thinking man in the South does. It is a calamity for Atlanta, and really a calamity for the South. It is a great pity that the people of Atlanta could not have found a better and less life-destructive plan to have rid their fair women of the curse which seems to have been settled upon them, fastened there by black brutes whose boldness and criminal persistency had made the life of the women of Atlanta one of terror, and who had forever blasted the lives of many pure and noble women of our Southland. But The Sun does not condemn without a thought for what led up to the rioting and the killing of the negroes in Atlanta Saturday night. While we regard it as unfortunate, and as a calamity, we are inclined to calmly and dispassionately view the incidents of the past months and couple them with the reports, authenticated, of four attempts upon women in the outskirts of the city, and at their very doors in less than that many hours. It is human to judge others by ourselves, though it is not perhaps a proper thing to do. But in this case it is generous. What would Gainesville do in a similar case. Would the men of Gainesville, after having exhausted all civil means, appealing to the law and standing for its enforcements, as Atlanta did for weeks, still seek redress from their grievances, when they had been confronted with four assaults upon their women in less than that many hours? No power on earth could allay their anger, no appeals to their good sense desist them in their determination to have combined and by violence sought to put an end to outrages of this character.

If there is any fault to be placed at the door of Atlanta in connection with this unfortunate affair, it is to be placed there because Atlanta has been harboring too many worthless negroes and has been permitting them to have too great a swing in their lives of indolence, vagrancy and crime. The press of Atlanta had taken this question up in a vigorous manner for the past several weeks, and had called upon the police to close the numerous negro clubs, where immorality, gambling and all kinds of hellishness has been going on. Liberty is one thing and license another, and we are constrained to believe from the reports of her own papers that the negro population has been granted too much license in Atlanta. They have been permitted to congregate and plot against the whites at their hearts' content. Let us hope the end has come. Likewise let us hope that the best judgment of both whites and blacks will prevail and put an end to the fiendish crimes from which Atlanta has suffered.

If the negro will cease protecting the criminal members of his race and join the whites in meting out punishment to those who prey upon defenseless women, there will be no occasion for a repetition of Atlanta's riot. But so long as Atlanta or any other city of the South is to be terrorized by black brutes in human form, just that long will riots occur.

We pity, therefore, rather than blame Atlanta.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

BIT BY RATTLESNAKE.

Last Sunday near the mill of Zachary & Dickenson little Myrtle Dickenson stepped on a rattlesnake with her bare feet. The bite was instantaneous and on the bottom of the foot. Immediately, Mrs. Dickenson, who was with her daughter, killed the snake, tightly bound the foot above the ankle to prevent the circulation in that part of the body, and then proceeded to cut the poisoned place with a pocket knife until it bled freely. She then procured from a pine tree some turpentine, which she put all over the wound. A negro man was passing in a cart which he readily offered for the asking. The little girl was soon on her way to the doctor and to her home in this city. Dr. Bond came as soon as they were home, and he stated that the presence of mind and courage of the mother saved the life of the child.

The snake, as stated above, was killed by Mrs. Dickenson, and it was found to have eight rattles and a button.

The little girl was anxious that her mother cut her foot and that the doctor do so too. Genuine inherited nerve.—Tallahassee True-Democrat.

The great reduction of the Republican majority in Vermont at the late election to 15,676 has only once been equaled, and that was in 1890 when the majority was 14,163, and in that year the Democrats elected the largest majority in Congress that any party has had since 1880. This looks promising for a Democratic Congress this fall.

Just How to Do It.

Advance to the inner door and give three distinct raps. The "devil" will attend your alarm. You give him your name, postoffice address and the number of years that you are owing for the paper. He will then admit you. You will advance to the center of the room, address the editor with the following countersign: Extend the right hand about two feet from the body, with the thumb and index finger clasping a ten dollar bill, which drops into the extended hand of the editor, at the same time saying, "Were you looking for me?" The editor will say, "You bet." After giving him the news you will be obliged to retire with a receipt for the obligation properly discharged. —Kingman (Kan.) Leader-Courier.

The Breath of Life.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A. Stephens of Port Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Billiards at Sea.

"Can you imagine playing billiards in a heavy gale?" said the captain. "Do you wonder that our great liners, with their elevators and telephones and gymnasium, don't have billiard tables as well? One ship once had a billiard table, the Great Eastern. The wonderful Great Eastern had a billiard table on a swinging deck. This deck was supposed to counteract the ship's motion and to keep the table steady, but it failed to do so, and very remarkable were some of the shots made on the Great Eastern's table in rough weather. Nevertheless the table was kept for years and was a popular institution aboard the big boat, but no other boat before or since has ever bothered to introduce billiards."

General Robert E. Lee

Was the greatest general the world has ever known. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the greatest liniment. Quickly cures all pains. It is within the reach of all. T. H. Pointer, Hempstead, Texas, writes: "This is to certify that Ballard's Snow Liniment has been used in my household for years and has been found to be an excellent liniment for rheumatic pains. I am never without it." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Singular and Plural.

It is a question of taste and fancy whether one should make two bites of a cherry, but we all really make two bites of the word "cherry" when we use it in the singular. The original English version of "cerise" was "cherris" or "cherris," which was mistaken for a plural, so that "cheri" or "chiri" was soon manufactured as a singular. Exactly so has "pea" come into being as a false singular obtained from the supposed plural and true singular "pease." "Sherry" for "sherris" is another case, and "shay" from "chaise," "Chinee" from "Chinese" and "corp" from "corpse" are others in vulgar speech. Similarly "riches" is really a singular, of which "richnesses" was the old plural.—London Graphic.

"To Cure a Felon"

Says Sam Kendall, of Philipsburg, Kan., "just cover it over with Bucklen's Arnica Salve and the salve will do the rest." Quickest cure for burns, boils, sores, scalds, wounds, piles, eczema, salt rheum, chapped hands, sore feet and sore eyes. Only 25c at all drug stores. Guaranteed.

HOW FAME COMES.

Men Who Became Great Through Accident or Chance.

Accident has played an important part in the making of great men. If Cooper had never been challenged by his wife to write as good a story as an English novel he had been reading he might never have been one of the great novelists.

If Napoleon had persisted in his attempts to be a writer of essays after he left the military academy the world would not have known this great general.

If Shakespeare had not failed as a wool merchant and turned actor and then, becoming disgusted with himself as an indifferent player, applied himself to writing there would never have been this great dramatist and no doubt the plays of today would have been inferior to what they are.

Cowley became a poet purely through chance. When only a boy he found in his mother's attic a copy of Spenser's "Faerie Queene" and, becoming enchanted by the rhyme, determined to write poetry for himself.

Gibbon tells that it was while he was at Rome among the ruins of the capitol that he was first moved to write the history of the rise and fall of that great empire. Probably had he not taken a walk on that certain sunny day he would never have conceived the work that afterward made him famous.

Corneille, the French poet, was in the habit of making verses for his friends. Being flattered by their criticism, he gave up his profession as a lawyer and turned writer.

Franklin discovered electricity by accident, and Moliere was turned to writing comedy from the tapestry trade, by a reprimand from his father for leading a dissipated life.

Newton discovered the force of gravitation through a mere chance. When a student at Cambridge he went one day to the country. Being weary with his rambles, he sat down beneath an apple tree, and while he was musing there was rudely aroused by a severe blow from an apple which, falling from the branches, struck him on the head. He was surprised at the force of the blow from so small an object, and this led him to deduce the principle of gravity.

Flamsteed became an eminent astronomer through chance. Because of ill health he was taken from school, and, wishing to have some books to read while in confinement, he borrowed a book on astronomy. He was so much interested in this volume that he procured others and at length adopted the study as a profession.

Pennant, the authority on natural history, received his propensity in that direction through a chance perusal of a book on birds which he found on a table in the house of a friend, and Sir Joshua Reynolds was first moved to his profession of painting portraits by casually reading Richardson's treatise. —Sunday Magazine.

Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

A nervous, irritable mother often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the abdominal region, and between the shoulders; bearing down pains; nervous dyspepsia and almost continually cross and snappy?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Chester Curry, Leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra, 42 Saratoga Street, East Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I was troubled with extreme nervousness and hysteria, brought on by irregularities. I could neither enjoy life nor sleep nights. I was very irritable, nervous and despondent.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and proved to be the only remedy that helped me. I have daily improved in health until I am now strong and well, and all nervousness has disappeared."

Mrs. Charles F. Brown, Vice-President of the Mothers' Club, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and nervousness, until it seemed as though I should fly. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was, and the wonderful results she derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I decided to try it. I did so, and at the end of three months I was a different woman. My nervousness was all gone, I was no longer irritable, and my husband fell in love with me all over again."

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine that holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills, and take no substitute.

Free Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter in law of Lydia E. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write to her for advice. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with female troubles enables her to advise you wisely, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

A TROPICAL TERROR.

Most Dreaded of Living Things In Equatorial Africa.

Europeans who visit the great equatorial forests of Africa are subject to many risks, but none perhaps so dangerous as contact with the bashikouay, or great bull ant, which is said to be the most dreaded of living things to be found in that region. It is gluttonous in the extreme. That which it attacks it consumes on the spot—nothing is carried away for further convenience. Elephants, leopards, gazelles, lions, snakes, gorillas, monkeys, even the human aborigines of the districts it infests, fly from any neighborhood in which they know it to be located. According to well accredited reports, these awe inspiring bull ants travel, like locusts, in vast armies, marching in a line two inches or more broad and miles in length. One of these armies has been known to take twelve hours to pass a given point. These ants prefer the shade and, rather than be exposed to the rays of the blazing sun, will burrow tunnels under the surface of the ground and thus travel until they come to the shelter of trees. Any animal which, unaware of the proximity of the bull ant and reposing in the solitude of the velt, happens to be attacked has no chance of escape. It is devoured with irresistible fury, and within a few minutes a pile of bleached bones marks the spot where it reposed. A great deal of valuable information about this dreaded creature has been published by a French zoologist, M. de Chailler, who has described a personal encounter with the bull ant. "I remember well the first time I met the bashikouays on a raid. I knew not what was in store for me. I was hunting by myself, when suddenly the forest became alive with the foe. A sudden dread seized me, and I stood still in the hunting path, resting on my gun. Suddenly, as if by magic, I was covered and bitten everywhere. I fled in haste and found refuge in a deep stream, yet even then the strong pinchers of the ants would not give way, and though the bodies were torn off the heads remained. The native tribes, when a man is condemned for witchcraft, generally fasten him to a tree before an inroad of these ants. After they have passed a shining skeleton alone is left to tell the tale."

Men Past Sixty In Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years, and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Fair Warning.

An old time English barrister was John Williams, a sarcastic wit and a bachelor with an intense prejudice against marriage. His clerk one day asked him for a holiday to get married, and some months afterward, on entering his chambers, Williams found his dead body suspended from the door. He engaged another clerk and asked him if he was married. "No," the clerk replied, but thinking that Williams would regard marriage as a guarantee of steadiness he added, "but I am going to be." "Very well," replied Williams, "but understand this—when you hang yourself don't do it here!"

Studio.

"Studio" is one of the many foreign words that have acclimatized themselves in the English language. It is a recent import from Italy, unknown to Johnson's Dictionary and apparently not occurring before the nineteenth century, but it has supplied a want. "Study," which is the real English for "studio," suggests a room for reading and writing, and "workroom" lacks distinctiveness. The French get along with "atelier," which literally means a place in which small planks are prepared—in other words, a carpenter's workshop.

The Original.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. J. W. McCollum & Co.

When Edison Apologized.

When Thomas A. Edison first came to Washington to display the graphophone, which had just recently been invented, Roscoe Conkling, who was always quite vain, was there too. Mr. Conkling wore a little curl on his forehead, and when Mr. Edison repeated something about a little girl with a little curl right in the middle of her forehead the New York senator thought that, of course, the remark was made for him, and Mr. Edison had to apologize.—Dr. Reyburn's Reminiscences of Charles Sumner in Washington Post.

An Ounce of Prevention

Is worth a pound of cure. There are many poor sufferers, consumptives, who are hopeless of getting well—who, if they had taken care of themselves, would now be well. A cough is the foundation of consumption. Ballard's Horehound Syrup will cure that cough. Mrs. S——, Great Falls, Montana, writes: "I have used Ballard's Horehound Syrup in my family for years—my children never suffer with coughs." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

A Husband's Retort.

A man, accompanied by his wife, visited a merchant tailor to order a suit of clothes. The couple differed as to the material and the manner of making, and the wife lost her temper.

"Oh, well," she said, turning away, "please yourself. I suppose you are the one who will wear the clothes."

"Well," observed the husband meekly, "I didn't suppose you'd want to wear the coat and waistcoat."—Everybody's Magazine.

Dr. Finn's Testimony Interesting.

Dr. Thomas Finn of Boonsboro, Mo., who has practiced medicine for 32 years, says he has used every prescription known to the profession for treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, and says he has never found anything so effective in both chronic and acute kidney and bladder trouble as Foley's Kidney Cure. It stops irregularities and builds up the whole system. J. W. McCollum & Co.

An Infallible Sign.

A student in one of the colleges was writing on a paper in medical jurisprudence in which he was asked to enuumerate the signs of death by drowning. After some more or less futile guesses he added, "But the surest sign of all is crape on the door!"—Short Stories.

Unworthy of Remembrance.

My Dear Friend—I beg you to lend me 6,000 francs. Then forget me forever. I am not worthy to be remembered.—From a Letter Found by Paris Figaro.

D., 1906, for ification or rejection, to-wit:

Section 40. There shall be established in county of Escambia, whenever the voters said county shall so determine by a majori- of the votes cast, on the question at any eral election, a court of record and there shall be a judge of said court who shall be ointed by the Governor and confirmed by Senate, who shall hold his office for six rs and whose salary shall be two thousand, e hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly the county of Escambia. The criminal rt of record now established in Escambia nty shall, upon the adoption of these amend- nts, become and be the court of record as rein provided and all officers of such criminal rt of record shall be officers of such court record and discharge the duties and re- ive the emoluments of such until the ex- ation of their present term of office.

Section 41. The said court and Judge shall ve exclusive original jurisdiction of all minal cases, not capital, which shall arise Escambia county, and shall have in Escam- a county, concurrent with the Circuit Court the Circuit Judge of said county, the same original jurisdiction of all other cases and matters as the circuit court and circuit judge of said county and the same power to issue writs of mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari, prohibition, habeas corpus and all writs proper necessary to the complete exercise of their jurisdiction as the circuit court and circuit judge of said county, except the power and authority to summon and empanel a grand jury.

Section 42. There shall be six terms of said court in each year.

Section 43. There shall be for said court a prosecuting attorney who shall be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate and who shall hold his office for four years. His compensation shall be fixed by law.

Section 44. All offenses triable in said court shall be prosecuted upon information under oath to be filed by the prosecuting attorney, but the grand jury of the circuit court for said county may indict for any offence triable in the court of record. Upon the finding of such indictment the circuit judge shall commit or bail the accused for trial in the court of record, which trial shall be upon information.

Section 45. The clerk of said court shall be elected by the electors of Escambia county and shall hold office for four years and his compensation shall be fixed by law. The sheriff of Escambia county shall be the executive officer of said court, and his duties and fees shall be fixed by law.

Section 46. The same rule of procedure and practice which obtain in the circuit court of the county shall obtain in the court of record, and all laws relative to criminal courts of record, except as otherwise provided herein, shall apply to and control the court of record. Change of venue may be had from the court of record to the circuit court of another county for the same causes, and under the laws providing for changing the venue from circuit court of one county to the circuit court of another county. The Governor may, in his discretion, order the circuit judge of Escambia county or of any other county to hold one or more terms or parts of terms of the court of record. Any civil cause in the court of record may be tried before a referee, or in case of the disqualification of the judge of the court of record, may be tried by a judge ad litem, or may be transferred to the circuit court of Escambia county or of ony other county, in the same way and according to the same provisisons as govern such proceedings in the circuit court of Escambia county.

Section 47. The Supreme Court of the State shall have appellate jurisdiction in all cases at law and in equity originating in the court of record, and in cases of conviction of felony in the court of record. The circuit court of Escambia county shall have final appellate jurisdiction of all misdemeanors tried in the court of record. All appeals or writs of error prosecuted from the court of record, whether to the Supreme Court or Circuit Court, shall be prosecuted in the same way and according to the same rules as govern such proceedings from the Circuit Court to the Supreme Court.

Approved June 6, 1905.

ARTICLE XXXII.

That the following amendment to Article XVII of the Constitution of the State of Florida be, and the same is hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of the State at the general election in 1906 for ratification or rejection:

Section 1. Either branch of the Legislature, at a regular session thereof, may propose amendments to this Constitution; and if the same be agreed to by three-fifths of all the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered upon their respective Journals with the yeas and nays and shall be published in one newspaper in each county where a newspaper is published, for one month immediately preceding the next general election of Representatives, at which election the same shall be submitted to the electors of the State, for approval or rejection. If a majority of the electors voting upon the amendments at such election shall adopt the amendments the same shall become a part of the Constitution. The proposed amendments shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment separately. All amendments adopted at the election at which this is submitted or heretofore adopted by the electors are hereby declared a part of the Constitution from the date of the adoption of the same.

Approved June 6, 1905.

The votes cast in compliance with said proposed amendments, and the canvass, declarations and returns thereof, shall be subjected to the same regulations and restrictions as are provided by law for general elections in the State of Florida.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the great seal of the State of Florida, at Tallahassee, the capital, this first day of August, A. D., 1906.

[L. S.] H. Clay Crawford, Secretary of State.

To L. W. Fennell, Sheriff of Alachua county.

WHEELER COMMISSIONED.

Well Known and Popular Young Man Has Received His Appointment.

It will be of interest to his numerous friends throughout Florida to learn that W. D. Wheeler, a graduate of East Florida Seminary in this city and for three years cadet-major of that institution, has been commissioned as first lieutenant in the United States Army.

Mr. Wheeler acquires his military career naturally, his father having spent the greater portion of his life as colonel in the regular army. Young Wheeler served under his father in the Philippines. He is well qualified and deserving of the position, and his friends here and elsewhere will extend congratulations.

Mr. Wheeler has been employed as traveling salesman for the National Packing Company of Jacksonville for the past few months.

NEW OFFICIALS ARRIVED.

Chief Engineer Pegee and Resident Engineer Pegee Are Here.

O. W. Pegee of Kansas City, Mo., one of the most competent surveyors and engineers in the South, and H. G. Pegee, also of Kansas City, who has accepted a position as resident engineer of the Gainesville and Gulf railroad, have arrived in the city, and will in future make their headquarters here.

O. W. Pegee has been assigned to duty as chief engineer of the Gainesville and Gulf, and has already assumed his duties in the field of the extension from Fairfield south to Tampa. He is one of the finest in his profession this country has ever produced. He was for many years in charge of his department on the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad, but later with the Southern Pacific, having relinquished his position on that road to come here.

President Atkinson, in speaking of the progress, etc., of the Gainesville and Gulf extension, stated that everything is moving along nicely. There are already graded and ready for crossties and iron about sixteen miles, and a large force is engaged in cutting the right-of-way from Crystal River north, which will meet the grading "gang" in a few days. There is also another force working from Crystal River south.

"We expect to have through trains in operation between Tampa and Jacksonville, via Gainesville, by March 1, 1907," President Atkinson said, "and I can tell you now that the service will be first-class, as we propose to operate as fine trains as can be secured in the United States."

Mr. Atkinson states that close connections will be made in Jacksonville for all points East and West.

Colonel Corbett Here.

Among the visitors to this city is Colonel Walter P. Corbett of Jacksonville, general agent of the Prudential Life Insurance Company for Florida.

Col. Corbett came to place his son, Roy, in the University. He manifests a great deal of pride in the State institutions, and believes that the Buckman law, consolidating the various institutions, has been a good thing, and a measure in which the people of Florida will receive a great educational benefit. He will have a daughter attending the Florida Female College at Tallahassee.

Colonel Corbett is one of Florida's most prominent citizens. He is honored with the rank of Colonel by virtue of the fact that he is inspector-general of the State troops. He served the American army in the Philippines as quartermaster and commissary of the Thirtieth U. S. infantry, with the rank of Captain.
